I wasn't working that whole time. Not nearly. I promise.

Don,

Thanks for jumping in on this. I'm a bit dismayed by the hour at which you sent this email!

All,

Here's a clean version, as promised. I left a couple of comments in that still may need to be addressed (... heads-up, Jenny!) This version was created by accepting all changes and cleaning up the formatting. Once I did this, I discovered a few spots where obvious word edits were needed, so I made those, as well.

All,

I have added a few edits to Allison's version, as well. I also tried to reconcile Steve Sweeney's edits/comments (which he made to the original version and sent only to the tech team) to the current version. So the attached version includes edits and comments from:

Alan, Allison, Steve & me. (Am I leaving anyone out?)

I think the next step is to come up with a clean, nicely formatted version and ensure that all comments have been addressed. I can do that tomorrow morning, if needed (...will touch base with Allison in the morning).

Christine--

Thanks for taking the lead on this. My comments/suggested edits are attached for your consideration. I added track changes to a version Alan already had made some changes to to make sure statements in this summary aligned with statements in the decision doc. Most of my comments and changes were made along the same lines--to ensure consistency with current lang. used in the decision document. I think that is important and something I know Jeff has focused on during his legal reviews as well.

As a general comment, I know our goal is something short and sweet but we may want to consider reformatting our options as a list of bullets rather than as an in-paragraph list to improve readability. I found it a little difficult to read a long list of recommendations in paragraph form.

I have shared with NMFS and will let you know if I hear back from them in time for the 10:00am PST deadline. Otherwise, we may need to say these are some preliminary thoughts pending further discussion with NMFS.
